Class: First Secondary Unit 4 Session: 1 of 2 — Conversation Title: The Art of Advertising — Conversation (SB p. 59)

Day/Date: Week 10, Sun 14/5/1448 (Oct 25, 2026) Prior Knowledge: Students know the unit vocabulary for products/gadgets and can use the passive; they are familiar with the reading on credit cards from the previous week.

Sat	Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Scan the Adnan/Omar conversation about the flying helicopter alarm for unfamiliar words and identify the passive sentences within it.	Ss scan the conversation on SB p.59 for unfamiliar words/phrases, and try to work out meaning from context or ask classmates who know them. Give Ss a few minutes to find and underline the passive sentences (e.g. 'the top part… is placed on a base', 'It is made to fly…'); elicit these as a class.	8 min	Silent scanning, context-guessing, guided noticing of grammar	SB p.59	Oral elicitation of passive sentences	Students recognize passive constructions used to describe how gadgets work
Listen to the conversation for gist, then read it aloud in pairs, underlining examples of consonant+vowel and consonant+consonant linking.	With books closed, Ss listen to the audio of the conversation once; play again as Ss read along in their books. Ss underline examples of consonant+vowel (e.g. 'the best ice cream') and consonant+consonant linking (e.g. 'in contrast to the standard bike') in the conversation, then practice reading the conversation aloud in pairs, focusing on linking the sounds naturally. Go over Real Talk expressions: What are you up to? (What are you doing now?) and What on earth…? (an expression of surprise).	12 min	Listen-and-follow, pair reading practice, pronunciation linking focus	SB p.59, class audio	Teacher monitoring of pair reading and linking	Students use What are you up to? and What on earth…? in a short exchange of their own
Choose and justify an ending to the conversation, explain in their own words how the flying helicopter alarm works, and describe an unusual gadget to a partner using an organizer.	Ss individually choose one of the three endings (or write their own) for 'What do you think Adnan answers?' and form small groups to compare and justify their choice. For About the Conversation, Ss write a short explanation in their own words of how the flying helicopter alarm works and present it to a partner, who helps correct it. For Your Turn, Ss complete the organizer (What the gadget is called / What it looks like / How it works) for an unusual gadget they know, then describe it to a partner, who responds with disbelief expressions (It is awesome/incredible, I've never seen anything like it, It makes you wonder).	20 min	Individual choice with small-group justification, partner explanation with peer correction, organizer-based speaking task	SB p.59, organizer table	Partner/peer correction of explanations; teacher monitoring of Your Turn descriptions	Students research a real gadget for homework to present next class
Consolidate conversational expressions and assign follow-up reading practice.	Call on a few volunteers to present their gadget description and their partner's response to the class. Quick review of Real Talk expressions and one example of consonant linking from the conversation. Assign Workbook p.259 for additional reading practice.	5 min	Whole-class sharing, wrap-up	SB p.59, Workbook p.259	Teacher observation of volunteer presentations	Homework: Workbook p.259 reading practice

Class: First Secondary Unit 4 Session: 2 of 2 — Writing Title: The Art of Advertising — Writing (SB pp. 62–63)

Day/Date: Week 10, Mon 15/5/1448 (Oct 26, 2026) Prior Knowledge: Students can use the passive and sequence events chronologically; they have practiced timeline note-taking in the Reading session on credit cards.

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Discuss personal cell phone use and predict the content of 'The Invention of the Cell Phone' from its title.	In pairs, Ss discuss Writing Ex. A questions (SB p.62): Do you have a cell phone? What do you use it for? What type/brand do you like? How would life be different with no cell phones? Volunteers share answers; hold a brief class survey of phone types. Direct Ss to the title of the reading and ask predicting questions: What kind of information do you expect to find? Is the cell phone a new invention? When do you think it was invented?	8 min	Pair discussion, class survey, prediction	SB p.62, Board	Oral sharing of pair discussion and predictions	Students connect the cell-phone history to products/gadgets used in daily life
Read 'The Invention of the Cell Phone' and complete a chronological timeline of five key dates/stages (1843, 1865, 1973, 1977, 1988).	Play the audio as Ss follow along and compare the text to their own predictions. Ss work in pairs, reading the text and filling in the timeline with each date and a note on what happened (1843 – Michael Faraday, research on electricity in space; 1865 – Dr. Mahlon Loomis, wireless communication; 1973 – Dr. Martin Cooper, first cellular phone use; 1977 – cell phones go public/trial testing in Chicago; 1988 – CTIA sets goals and standards). Volunteers write the timeline on the board for the class to check and copy.	12 min	Listen-and-follow, pair timeline completion, whole-class checking	SB p.62, class audio, Board	Timeline entries checked as a class	Students see how a five-stage timeline organizes a product's history chronologically
Identify how the model text organizes facts, stages, and people (Writing Corner tasks 1–2), then choose a product/gadget and use a timeline to draft the history of a product (Ex. C).	In pairs (one book open on p.62, one on p.63), Ss read the Writing Corner guidelines and complete task 1: identify how facts/events are organized chronologically, the number of development stages, and the people/organizations mentioned (Michael Faraday, Dr. Mahlon Loomis, Dr. Martin Cooper, CTIA); pairs also decide for task 2 whether the writer is addressing readers already familiar with cell phones, giving reasons. Ss then choose their own product or gadget, research/collect information, plot it on the Ex. C timeline (Year/Date – What happened), and use their notes to write a first draft of a short chronological text about its history, following the Writing Corner guidelines.	18 min	Guided text analysis, paired reading, individual research-based timeline and first-draft writing	SB pp.62–63, notebooks	Writing Corner answers checked in pairs; first draft reviewed by teacher/partner	Students bring outside research (internet/article) into a piece of chronological writing
Exchange first drafts with a partner for feedback and plan a revised version.	Ss swap drafts with a partner, check that facts are in chronological order and that key people/organizations and stages are included, and give one suggestion for improvement. Ss note their partner's comments to use when rewriting an improved version for homework. Assign Workbook p.262 for further writing practice.	7 min	Peer feedback, wrap-up	SB p.63, Workbook p.262	Peer feedback notes; teacher spot-checks a few drafts	Homework: rewrite an improved final version of the product-history text; Workbook p.262

Based directly on your MegaGoal 1 Student Book and Teacher's Guide, Unit 4 "The Art of Advertising" (SB pp. 54–63). Page references and exercise names match your actual textbook.

Class: STEP Program Week 8 Session: 1 of 6 — First & Second Conditional Title: STEP Complete Grammar — First & Second Conditional

Day/Date: Week 8, Day 1 of 6 Prior Knowledge: Students have mastered all Week 7 verb-form topics (modals, perfect modals, passive, causative, gerund/infinitive, participle clauses). Week 8 begins the highest-priority stage of the program: Sentence Structure and Conditionals/Reported Speech together account for 449 of the STEP exam's grammar questions, the single most heavily-tested category.

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Review first conditional (If + present simple, ... will + base verb) for real, likely future possibilities, and second conditional (If + past simple, ... would + base verb) for unreal or hypothetical present/future situations; distinguish real probability from hypothetical imagination.	Warm-up: teacher presents two parallel sentences on the board — one first conditional, one second conditional, on the same topic (e.g., 'If it rains, I will stay home' vs. 'If I won the lottery, I would travel the world') — and elicits the difference in likelihood/reality from students; build a quick reference chart (if-clause tense / result-clause tense / meaning) for both forms.	8 min	Whole-class elicitation, contrastive board presentation	Whiteboard	Oral questioning	Students classify a given conditional sentence as first or second and explain why based on real vs. hypothetical meaning
Apply first and second conditional forms accurately to complete and transform sentences, correctly matching the if-clause and result-clause tenses to the intended level of reality.	Guided practice: teacher gives sentence halves (if-clauses or result clauses) and students complete them appropriately for a specified conditional type; pair work transforming a set of first-conditional sentences into second-conditional equivalents (and vice versa) to check understanding of the reality-shift in meaning.	15 min	Guided practice, pair work, sentence transformation	Whiteboard, STEP topic worksheet — First & Second Conditional (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Pair-check of completed/transformed sentences, teacher monitoring during pair work	Apply first and second conditional forms accurately in new sentences — a core skill within the exam's highest-weighted grammar category
Consolidate first and second conditionals through independent STEP-style multiple-choice practice replicating the exam format.	Students complete the STEP topic worksheet on First & Second Conditional individually and silently (10 items), then self-check against the answers printed on the same page, flagging missed items for clarification.	17 min	Independent practice, self-correction against answer key	STEP topic worksheet — First & Second Conditional (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class), Whiteboard	Worksheet self-check against printed answer key; teacher spot-checks commonly missed items	Apply first and second conditional rules accurately and quickly under timed, exam-like multiple-choice conditions
Consolidate the session by clarifying first/second conditional confusion points and framing their weight within the exam's top-priority category.	Whole-class review of the most frequently missed worksheet items, with teacher re-explaining the reality-shift distinction on the board; brief reminder that conditionals are part of the 449-question Sentence Structure and Conditionals/Reported Speech category, the exam's single largest grammar focus.	5 min	Whole-class review, exit ticket	Whiteboard	Exit ticket (one first-conditional sentence + one second-conditional sentence, student-generated)	Recall first/second conditional rules accurately as a foundation for third conditional and reported speech next session

Lesson Plan

Class: STEP Program Week 8 Session: 2 of 6 — Third Conditional & Reported Speech Title: STEP Complete Grammar — Third Conditional & Reported Speech

Day/Date: Week 8, Day 2 of 6 Prior Knowledge: Students have reviewed first and second conditional (Week 8, Day 1) and understand real vs. hypothetical present/future meaning; this is part of the exam's highest-weighted category (Sentence Structure and Conditionals/Reported Speech — 449 questions).

Sat	Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Introduce third conditional (If + past perfect, ... would have + past participle) to express unreal past situations and regret, and distinguish it clearly from first and second conditional by time reference (past vs. present/future).	Warm-up: teacher presents a regretful scenario (e.g., 'I didn't study, so I failed the test') and elicits the third-conditional equivalent ('If I had studied, I would have passed the test'); build a three-way comparison chart on the board showing first, second, and third conditional side by side by time reference and reality level.	8 min	Whole-class elicitation, comparative board presentation	Whiteboard	Oral questioning	Students correctly identify which conditional type (1st/2nd/3rd) fits a given time reference and reality level
Apply the rules of reported speech to report statements, questions, and commands accurately, including backshift of tense, and pronoun/time-expression changes (e.g., today -> that day, tomorrow -> the next day).	Present the backshift chart (present simple -> past simple, present perfect -> past perfect, will -> would, etc.) alongside reporting verbs (say/tell) and question/command patterns (asked if/whether..., told him to...); guided practice converting direct statements, questions, and commands into reported speech; pair work combining third-conditional sentences with reported-speech transformations of the same content.	15 min	Guided practice, pair work, transformation drill	Whiteboard, STEP topic worksheet — Reported Speech (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Pair-check of transformed sentences, teacher monitoring during pair work	Apply third conditional and reported speech accurately in new sentences — core skills within the exam's highest-weighted grammar category
Consolidate third conditional and reported speech through independent STEP-style multiple-choice practice covering both topics.	Students complete two STEP topic worksheets individually and silently (Third Conditional, 10 items; Reported Speech, 10 items), then self-check both against the answers printed on the same pages, flagging missed items for clarification.	17 min	Independent practice, self-correction against answer key	STEP topic worksheet — Third Conditional (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class), STEP topic worksheet — Reported Speech (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Worksheet self-check against printed answer keys; teacher spot-checks commonly missed items	Apply third conditional and reported speech rules accurately and quickly under timed, exam-like multiple-choice conditions
Consolidate the session by clarifying third-conditional and reported-speech error patterns before moving into sentence-structure topics.	Whole-class review of the most frequently missed worksheet items, with teacher re-explaining backshift or unreal-past errors on the board; quick exit-ticket question requiring one third-conditional sentence and one reported-speech transformation of a given direct question.	5 min	Whole-class review, exit ticket	Whiteboard	Exit ticket (one third-conditional sentence + one reported-speech transformation)	Recall third conditional and reported speech rules accurately as a foundation for the week's sentence-structure sessions

Class: STEP Program Week 8 Session: 3 of 6 — Word Order & Combining Sentences Title: STEP Complete Grammar — Word Order & Combining Sentences

Day/Date: Week 8, Day 3 of 6 Prior Knowledge: Students have completed first, second, and third conditional and reported speech (Week 8, Days 1-2). Sentence Structure is the largest single sub-category within the exam's top-priority combined category (324 of the 449 questions).

Sat	Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Review word order rules: adjective order before a noun (opinion-size-age-shape-color-origin-material), adverb placement (frequency, manner, place, time), and question word order (auxiliary before subject).	Warm-up: teacher presents a scrambled sentence with multiple adjectives (e.g., 'a / beautiful / old / French / small / painting') and elicits the correct order using the OSASCOMP chart; contrast with adverb-placement examples (always, quickly, here, yesterday) and a quick question-word-order check.	8 min	Whole-class elicitation, rule-chart presentation	Whiteboard	Oral questioning	Students correctly reorder a scrambled set of words into a grammatically correct sentence on the spot
Combine simple sentences into compound and complex sentences accurately using coordinating conjunctions (FANBOYS: for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so) and subordinating conjunctions (because, although, when, if, since).	Present example pairs of simple sentences combined with coordinating vs. subordinating conjunctions, highlighting punctuation differences (comma before coordinating conjunction; comma after an introductory subordinate clause); guided practice combining sentence pairs; pair work correcting word-order errors and choosing the best conjunction to combine a set of sentence pairs.	15 min	Guided practice, pair work, sentence combining	Whiteboard, STEP topic worksheet — Word Order (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Pair-check of combined/corrected sentences, teacher monitoring during pair work	Apply correct word order and conjunction choice when combining sentences — a core Sentence Structure exam skill
Consolidate word order and sentence combining through independent STEP-style multiple-choice practice covering both topics.	Students complete two STEP topic worksheets individually and silently (Word Order, 10 items; Combining Sentences, 10 items), then self-check both against the answers printed on the same pages, flagging missed items for clarification.	17 min	Independent practice, self-correction against answer key	STEP topic worksheet — Word Order (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class), STEP topic worksheet — Combining Sentences (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Worksheet self-check against printed answer keys; teacher spot-checks commonly missed items	Apply word order and sentence-combining rules accurately and quickly under timed, exam-like multiple-choice conditions
Consolidate the session by clarifying word-order and sentence-combining error patterns before moving to question formation.	Whole-class review of the most frequently missed worksheet items, with teacher re-explaining adjective-order or conjunction-choice errors on the board; brief reminder that Sentence Structure is the single most heavily-tested exam category, so accuracy here carries disproportionate weight.	5 min	Whole-class review, exit ticket	Whiteboard	Exit ticket (one correctly ordered sentence with two adjectives + one sentence combined with a subordinating conjunction)	Recall word-order and sentence-combining rules accurately as a foundation for question formation and embedded questions

Class: STEP Program Week 8 Session: 4 of 6 — Question Formation & Embedded Questions Title: STEP Complete Grammar — Question Formation & Embedded Questions
Day/Date: Week 8, Day 4 of 6 Prior Knowledge: Students have completed conditionals, reported speech, word order, and combining sentences (Week 8, Days 1-3), all within the exam's highest-weighted Sentence Structure category.

Sat	Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Review direct question formation: auxiliary inversion (subject-auxiliary swap) and wh-question words (who, what, where, when, why, how) in present, past, and modal question forms.	Warm-up: teacher presents a statement on the board and elicits its question form, highlighting the auxiliary-subject inversion rule (do/does/did-support for simple tenses; direct inversion for be/modal/have-as-auxiliary); quick drill converting three or four statements into wh-questions and yes/no questions.	8 min	Whole-class elicitation, transformation drill	Whiteboard	Oral questioning	Students correctly form a direct question from a given statement on the spot
Apply embedded (indirect) question structure correctly — introducing a question inside a larger sentence (e.g., 'Do you know where...?', 'I wonder if...', 'Can you tell me what...?') using statement word order with no auxiliary inversion and no question mark shift for yes/no embedded questions with if/whether.	Present example transformations from direct questions to embedded questions, highlighting the loss of inversion and do-support ('Where is she?' -> 'Do you know where she is?'); guided practice transforming a set of direct questions into embedded questions using varied introductory phrases; pair work distinguishing correct from incorrect embedded-question word order in a mixed set.	15 min	Guided practice, pair work, transformation drill	Whiteboard, STEP topic worksheet — Question Formation (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Pair-check of transformed sentences, teacher monitoring during pair work	Apply direct and embedded question structures accurately in new sentences — a core Sentence Structure exam skill
Consolidate question formation and embedded questions through independent STEP-style multiple-choice practice covering both topics.	Students complete two STEP topic worksheets individually and silently (Question Formation, 10 items; Embedded Questions, 10 items), then self-check both against the answers printed on the same pages, flagging missed items for clarification.	17 min	Independent practice, self-correction against answer key	STEP topic worksheet — Question Formation (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class), STEP topic worksheet — Embedded Questions (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Worksheet self-check against printed answer keys; teacher spot-checks commonly missed items	Apply question formation and embedded-question rules accurately and quickly under timed, exam-like multiple-choice conditions
Consolidate the session by clarifying inversion and embedded-question word-order errors before moving to connectors and relative pronouns.	Whole-class review of the most frequently missed worksheet items, with teacher re-explaining inversion-loss errors in embedded questions on the board; quick exit-ticket question requiring one direct question and its embedded-question equivalent.	5 min	Whole-class review, exit ticket	Whiteboard	Exit ticket (one direct question + its embedded-question transformation)	Recall question formation and embedded-question rules accurately as a foundation for connectors and relative pronouns

Class: STEP Program Week 8 Session: 5 of 6 — Connectors & Relative Pronouns Title: STEP Complete Grammar — Connectors & Relative Pronouns

Day/Date: Week 8, Day 5 of 6 Prior Knowledge: Students have completed conditionals, reported speech, word order, combining sentences, and question formation/embedded questions (Week 8, Days 1-4), all within the exam's highest-weighted Sentence Structure category.

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Review connectors beyond time relationships: contrast (however, although), addition (in addition, moreover), and cause/effect (because, therefore, as a result), and their correct positioning and punctuation within a sentence.	Warm-up: teacher presents a chart grouping connectors by function (contrast / addition / cause-effect) and elicits example sentences for each from students; highlight punctuation differences between subordinators (although + clause, no comma before it mid-sentence) and sentence connectors/transitions (however, therefore + comma).	8 min	Whole-class elicitation, functional chart presentation	Whiteboard	Oral questioning	Students choose the correct connector (contrast, addition, or cause/effect) to complete a given sentence on the spot
Apply relative pronouns (who, whom, whose, which, that) accurately in more complex sentences, including non-defining relative clauses (set off by commas, providing extra non-essential information) versus defining relative clauses (no commas, essential information).	Present example sentences contrasting defining and non-defining relative clauses, highlighting the comma rule and that 'that' cannot introduce a non-defining clause; guided practice choosing the correct relative pronoun and punctuation for a set of sentences; pair work combining connector practice and relative-pronoun practice in short paragraphs requiring both.	15 min	Guided practice, pair work, contrastive analysis	Whiteboard, STEP topic worksheet — Relative Pronouns (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Pair-check of completed sentences, teacher monitoring during pair work	Apply connectors and relative pronouns accurately in new sentences — a core Sentence Structure exam skill
Consolidate connectors and relative pronouns through independent STEP-style multiple-choice practice covering both topics.	Students complete two STEP topic worksheets individually and silently (Connectors, 10 items; Relative Pronouns, 10 items), then self-check both against the answers printed on the same pages, flagging missed items for clarification.	17 min	Independent practice, self-correction against answer key	STEP topic worksheet — Connectors (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class), STEP topic worksheet — Relative Pronouns (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Worksheet self-check against printed answer keys; teacher spot-checks commonly missed items	Apply connector and relative-pronoun rules accurately and quickly under timed, exam-like multiple-choice conditions
Consolidate the session by clarifying connector and relative-pronoun error patterns before the week's comprehensive sentence-structure mastery review.	Whole-class review of the most frequently missed worksheet items, with teacher re-explaining defining/non-defining comma errors and connector-punctuation errors on the board; brief look-ahead framing to the final session's comprehensive review of all Week 8 topics.	5 min	Whole-class review, exit ticket	Whiteboard	Exit ticket (one sentence with a cause/effect connector + one sentence with a non-defining relative clause)	Recall connector and relative-pronoun rules accurately as a foundation for the week's mixed sentence-structure mastery practice

Class: STEP Program Week 8 Session: 6 of 6 — Sentence Structure Mastery — Mixed Practice Title: STEP Complete Grammar — Sentence Structure Mastery — Mixed Practice
Day/Date: Week 8, Day 6 of 6 Prior Knowledge: Students have completed all Week 8 topics: first/second/third conditional, reported speech, word order, combining sentences, question formation, embedded questions, connectors, and relative pronouns (Week 8, Days 1-5) — together the exam's single most heavily-tested category (449 questions).

Objectives	Procedures Techniques and activities	Time	Teaching and learning Strategies	Resources	Evaluation (tools and Techniques)	Transfer of Learning
Recall and consolidate all Week 8 topics as one connected system (conditionals, reported speech, word order, combining sentences, question formation, embedded questions, connectors, relative pronouns) in preparation for comprehensive mixed practice.	Warm-up: whole-class rapid-fire recall quiz on the board — teacher names each of the eight Week 8 topics in turn and calls on students to give a one-sentence example or rule for each, building a single consolidated reference chart of the week's Sentence Structure and Conditionals/Reported Speech topics.	8 min	Whole-class recall quiz, consolidated chart building	Whiteboard	Oral questioning across all eight Week 8 topics	Students correctly recall and exemplify each Week 8 topic on demand
Apply Week 8 topics together through teacher-guided mixed error-identification practice, modeling the exam strategy STEP uses for its highest-weighted Sentence Structure category (spotting a single incorrect element within an otherwise correct sentence).	Teacher presents a short set of mixed sentences on the board, each containing one deliberate error drawn from any Week 8 topic (a conditional-tense mismatch, a reported-speech backshift slip, a word-order error, a missing/wrong connector, a relative-pronoun or comma error, a faulty embedded question); class identifies and corrects each error together, with teacher modeling the elimination strategy for STEP-style questions.	15 min	Guided modeling, whole-class error identification	Whiteboard	Whole-class error-identification check, teacher observation of strategy use	Apply exam error-identification strategy accurately across all Week 8 topics under teacher guidance before independent timed practice
Consolidate the full range of Week 8's Sentence Structure and Conditionals/Reported Speech topics through a comprehensive, timed, STEP-style mixed practice worksheet combining error-identification and sentence-completion items.	Students complete a comprehensive mixed review worksheet individually and under light time pressure, covering conditionals (1st/2nd/3rd), reported speech, word order, combining sentences, question formation, embedded questions, connectors, and relative pronouns, plus a small number of additional sentence-structure subtopics from the question bank not individually named this week folded into the review; students self-check against the answers printed on the same page and flag any repeated error patterns.	17 min	Independent timed mixed practice, self-correction against answer key	STEP Week 8 mixed review worksheet — Sentence Structure & Conditionals/Reported Speech Mastery (10 Qs + answers on same page, self-checked in class)	Worksheet self-check against printed answer key; teacher spot-checks commonly missed items and identifies weak areas for follow-up	Apply the full Week 8 topic set accurately and efficiently under timed, exam-like conditions in the exam's single highest-weighted category
Consolidate and close out Week 8 by identifying remaining weak areas across the Sentence Structure and Conditionals/Reported Speech category for targeted follow-up, and confirm students recognize its outsized weight on the exam.	Whole-class review of the two or three error types that appeared most often across the mixed-practice worksheet, with teacher noting which topics need brief re-teaching in a future review slot; closing reminder that this combined category (449 questions) is the single largest driver of the STEP score, so continued accuracy here matters most.	5 min	Whole-class review, teacher-led wrap-up	Whiteboard	Exit ticket (student names the one Week 8 topic they feel least confident in, for teacher follow-up planning)	Consolidate Week 8 mastery of the exam's highest-weighted category and identify priorities for ongoing review
